

LOGIE LIFE JULY 2021

Special Edition

forthvalleyartbeat 2021

Local artist Caroline Paterson

Photographer Hilary Jackson

This Special Edition of Logie Life is sent to you in advance of this weekend's
Open Studios and Gardens

The poster features a large, stylized number '2' in the background, with a blue vertical bar on the left and a red vertical bar on the right. The text is primarily in red and blue. At the top, 'FORTH VALLEY' is in small black letters, followed by 'artbeat' in large red and blue letters, and '2021' in large black outline letters. Below this, the dates and event types are listed in red and blue. A list of activities follows in blue and red. At the bottom, there are three circular logos: 'fv ab' in red, a white circle with a red line, and 'ARTCYCLE' in red. The bottom section contains contact information in black and two logos: 'COMMUNITY FUND' and 'Smarter Choice: Smarter Places' with a small graphic of a car and a person walking.

COMMUNITY FUND

Smarter Choice: Smarter Places
Supporting Sustainable Transport

Dear Community Members, this is a golden opportunity to show your support for your community at the long-awaited local art show this coming weekend (July 10-11th from 10-5pm). It will take place in the garden at Powis, (weather permitting) and also in the well-ventilated extension at Powbank House, Powis Loan (the former stables associated with Powis House). We are venue 32 of the Forth Valley Artbeat programme and details can be found at www.forthvalleyartbeat.com. Caroline Paterson collaborates with her photographer friend, Hilary Jackson, who will be sharing the venue. They will offer a few refreshments outside and hope to have live music at various times during the weekend.

Caroline Paterson is an archaeologist who has always loved art, specialising in Viking art styles and artefacts. She loves to be out-of-doors exploring the natural world. For many years she has attended local art classes given by Greer Ralston, who has introduced her to various painting techniques. Since being inspired by a print exhibition held at the Stirling Smith Art Gallery over ten years ago she has been a member of the Fife (Dunfermline) Printmakers' Workshop. Collagraphs are her favourite print medium, but she also produces aquatint etchings and she will happily demonstrate how she makes her plates. She will also be making papier-mache bird sculptures, which she has sold locally for several years.

I signed up for Open Studios during the depths of lockdown because it felt like a statement of hope in the future and a celebration of something positive and creative. Although I made most of my plates during lockdown I have only recently been able to return to the Print Studio to actually print them and see the results....strange times...but it would be lovely to welcome neighbours from Logie, especially after such a long period of social isolation. Parking will be available in the courtyard and access to the garden will be through our house so masks recommended just for initial access.

Hilary Jackson takes inspiration from nature to produce photographic images which are often a combination of various photographs manipulated in photoshop. She also produces cyanotype prints which each have a unique quality imbued with natural vegetation and sunlight. She is an Associate of the Royal Photographic Society awarded for her creative work.
